Upcoming Youth Workshop Gateway to the City: Light Rail Stations

November 3, 11:00 - 3:00
At VIA Architecture Inc.
1809 7th Ave #800
Seattle, WA 98101
Designed for youth ages 10-16

Light rail stations might seem simple at first glance, but these important transit centers are complex projects with a multitude of design challenges, including accessibility features, the simple challenge of moving thousands of people a day, and tailoring themselves to the neighborhoods they serve. See if you can out design Seattle's stations!

Price per class: $30 Members | $35 General

Fee waivers available to make programs accessible for all.
Email kim@seattlearchitecture.org for more information.

programming at a private school in Bellevue and are looking to hire a teaching artist. In addition to covering an introduction to architecture, urban planning, and design, the school would like the project to focus on light rail. The position is only at one site and only a couple of hours a week, so it's very part time. The job announcement is posted here.

Please direct all inquiries and materials to Kim Owens, Program Director, at kim@seattlearchitecture.org.

Supplies for SAF

We are looking for materials to be donated for our weekend workshop series. Two weekends a month we direct model building workshops for students and are always on the lookout for creative materials to build with. This is a perfect time to search your office or house and see what you have to offer.

CfAD Playlab: Transparency

Last two Saturdays of the month
1:00 - 4:00 PM
At the Center for Architecture and Design

Explore the 21st Annual Model Exhibit: Transparency and build your own model mini house! Sometimes being transparent means identifying the truth, no matter how unsettling. On average, there is one homeless child in every public school classroom in Washington State and the number keeps rising. This design challenge asks children to think about the basic needs of a home and how to fit them in a mini house.

This opportunity is free and perfect for
