

Design at your Desk

Play Spaces for Everyone

A trip to the playground is one of the best parts of being a kid, but for the many members of our community who have a disability, the trip may not be so fun if the park wasn't designed with you in mind.

Design Challenge: Connect the Community

Design a playground where someone with a disability can have fun.

What kind of equipment does an inclusive playground have?

- Quiet spaces where kids who may be overwhelmed by sounds, crowds, or otherwise upset can go to be alone
- Smooth surfaces and ramps that kids in wheelchairs or with mobility limitations can use easily
- Swings, ziplines, and spinners that can be used by kids who need back support, or are in a wheelchair
- A layout that is easy and safe to navigate for kids with visual impairments
- Climbing equipment that is safe for kids with lots of different ability levels
- Sandboxes that are high enough for use in a wheelchair
- And so much more!