

2024-25 School Programs Collaboration Proposal

SAF wants to bring architecture education directly to schools! For the 2024-25 school year SAF is working to help middle and high school students connect directly with architects and designers. If one of your goals is outreach, cultivating future architects or connecting with the community, let SAF help you make this a reality.

SAF manages

- Connecting with school groups and coordinating logistics
- Providing materials and support
- Celebrating your firm's participation through social media and the SAF newsletter

Firms offer

- Access to professionals working in the field
- Creative architectural and design challenges for youth to engage with
- Insights into the field

Details

When

SAF will work with firms and schools to schedule times that are suitable to both parties. Generally Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays between 10a–2p are ideal.

Where

These workshops can be held in your office, at the school, or at the Center for Architecture & Design depending on your needs and the school groups' ability to travel.

Who

SAF will be connecting with middle and high schools in the greater Puget Sound area.

Example

This year, Mithun hosted Maritime High School students as they explored the challenges of building over water. Mithun gave a presentation and provided their space and expertise to give Maritime students the opportunity to put themselves in a professional setting and work alongside architects as they designed new piers for the Seattle waterfront.

INQUIRIES:

Gwen Lennox, SAF Program Manager
gwen@seattlearchitecture.org